

Comments on the graduate level Special Education Program

Ron, I had an email from a current student in Cohort #1 who emailed me last night how much she is learning from the instructors! Then I was reading an essay one of the new enrollees for Cohort #2 had written and came across this comment:

"I currently have a staff member enrolled in the current Sped Cohort. She has expressed that the classes she has been enrolled in have been very beneficial to her classroom already and is helping her to meet her current students needs. Whenever I ask her how classes are going she just gets excited to share what she has learned and that excitement that I have seen excites me even more to get enrolled in these classes. I have even noticed her being more willing to step up with team discussions about what we could implement as a district and her opinion on why. She has shared that the experts/ Professionals that are teaching the classes are very knowledgeable with the current Sped issues, trends and law."

Quite the compliments, huh?

Have a good day! Alice
