

Joseph Gubanyi

Faculty status:

Full, Arts and Sciences

Academic Degrees:

University of Nebraska, Lincoln, NE, 2001, Ph.D., Wildlife Ecology

University of Nebraska, Lincoln, NE, 1989, M.S., Wildlife Biology

Concordia College, Seward, NE, 1972, B.S. in Ed., Elementary Education

Professional Experience:

2009-present Concordia University, Seward, NE, Professor, biology, Department Chair

2002-2008 Concordia University, Seward, NE, Associate Professor, biology

1989-2002 Concordia University, Seward, NE, Assistant Professor, biology

P-12 Experience:

1981-1982 Concordia Lutheran School, Seattle, WA, teacher, grades 7,8

1972-1981 Holy Cross Lutheran School, North Miami, FL, teacher, grades 5-8

Current Professional and Academic Association Memberships:

Nebraska Ornithologists Union, 1994-present)

American Ornithologists Union, 1984-1988, 1995-present

Wilson Ornithological Society, 1983-present

Society for Conservation Biology, Association of Field Ornithologists, 1994-present

Current Professional Assignments and Activities:

Nebraska Ornithologists Union - Records Committee

Nebraska Bird Review, science editor)

Natural Sciences Department, Chair

President's Climate Committee

Academy for Excellence Program Committee, 2006-present

Student Academic Advisement – 40+ undergraduate students

Pre-Med Program Advisor

Publications and Presentations:

Mollhoff, W., J. Gubanyi, and M. Brogie. 2008. FIRST REPORT OF ASH-THROATED FLYCATCHER (Myiarchus cinerascens) BREEDING IN THE NEBRASKA PANHANDLE REGION. Nebraska Bird Review 76:32-37.

Gubanyi J., J. Savidge, S. Hygnstrom, K. VerCauteren, G. Garabrand, and S. Korte.
2008. Deer Impact on Vegetation in Natural Areas in Southeastern Nebraska.
Natural Areas Journal 28:121-129.

Gubanyi, J. A., R. M. Case and R. Loch. The Barn Owl - Silent Master of the Night.
Nebraskaland, Vol 75, No. 8, October, 1995.

Gubanyi, J. A., R. M. Case and G. Wingfield. 1992. Diet and nesting success of barn owls breeding in western Nebraska. American Midland Naturalist 127:224-232.

The Sandhill Cranes of Nebraska, Presented at Seward Public Library, July 17, 2008.
International Opportunities for Concordia Students in Belize. Presented to Lied
Center Senior Center,

Seward, NE, July 15, 2008

International Opportunities for Concordia Students in Belize and Costa Rica.
Presented to St John

Lutheran Church Adult Fellowship Group, Topeka, KS, June 3, 2007.

Pre-Professional Programs in the Natural Sciences at Concordi. Presented to Concordia Foundation,

Seward, NE, July 24, 2006

Awards and Recognitions:

Outstanding Teaching Award, Concordia, May, 2010

University of Nebraska-Lincoln, 1993-1994, Widaman Trust Distinguished Graduate Student Award

National Wildlife Federation 1985-1986 Environmental Conservation Fellowship