

Jennifer J. Janousek, Ph.D.

Faculty status:

Assistant Professor of Health and Human Performance

Academic Degrees:

Ph.D. in Public Health from Walden University, August 2010

M.S. in Health Education from University of Nebraska at Omaha, December 2002

B.S. in Exercise Science and Psychology from Nebraska Wesleyan, May 1999

Professional Experience:

Assistant Professor of HHP at Concordia University, Nebraska - 2005 - present

Adjunct Instructor of HHP at Concordia University, Nebraska - 2001 - 2005

Adjunct Instructor of HHP at Nebraska Wesleyan University - 1999 - 2001

P-12 Experience:

None

Current Professional and Academic Association Memberships:

Public Health Association of Nebraska (PHAN)

Nebraska Association for Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance (NAHPERD)

Current Professional Assignments and Activities:

Program Director for Masters of Public Health

Nominated to Undergraduate Council (May 2009 - May 2011)

Four Corners Health Department MAPP Planning Committee Member

Publications and Presentations:

Dissertation: "Knowledge, Attitudes, Beliefs, and Predictors of Acceptance of the Human Papillomavirus Vaccination of College Women at a Midwest Lutheran University: A Quantitative Study"

Presented "1 + 1 = 3 ~ Creating Successful Partnerships" at NAHPERD's State Conference - November 2010

Presented about my mission trip to Guatemala at The Rock Lutheran Church - December 2010

Awards and Recognitions:

