Assessment Handbook

edTPA stems from a twenty-five-year history of developing performance-based assessments of teaching quality and effectiveness. The Teacher Performance Assessment Consortium (Stanford and AACTE) acknowledges the National Board for Professional Teaching Standards, the Interstate Teacher Assessment and Support Consortium, and the Performance Assessment for California Teachers for their pioneering work using discipline-specific portfolio assessments to evaluate teaching quality. This version of the handbook has been developed with thoughtful input from over six hundred teachers and teacher educators representing various national design teams, national subject matter organizations (ACEI, ACTFL, AMLE, CEC, IRA, NAEYC, NAGC, NCSS, NCTE, NCTM, NSTA, SHAPE America), and content validation reviewers. All contributions are recognized and appreciated.

Introduction to edTPA English as an Additional Language¹

Purpose

The purpose of edTPA English as an Additional Language, a nationally available performance-based assessment, is to measure novice teachers' readiness to teach English as an additional language. The assessment is designed with a focus on student learning and principles from research and theory. It is based on findings that successful teachers

- employ their knowledge of subject matter based on the TESOL P–12 Professional Teaching Standards
- develop and apply knowledge of varied students' needs
- consider research and theory about how students learn
- reflect on and analyze evidence of the effects of instruction on student learning

As a performance-based assessment, edTPA is designed to engage candidates in demonstrating their understanding of teaching and student learning in authentic ways.

Overview of the Assessment

The edTPA English as an Additional Language assessment is composed of three tasks:

1. Planning for Instruction and Assessment
2. Instructing and Engaging Students in Learning
3. Assessing Student Learning

For this assessment, you will first plan 3–5 consecutive lessons in English as an Additional Language (EAL) (or if teaching within a large time block, about 3–8 hours of connected instruction) referred to as a learning segment. Consistent with the recommendations provided by Teachers of English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL) for EAL professionals (2010),² a learning segment prepared for this assessment should support students' English language proficiency/development (ELPD³) within meaningful content-based instruction. The learning segment should demonstrate your ability to plan for, implement, and assess students' English language development within content-based instruction that is relevant to students' content and language development goals. This includes developing students' command of language functions and language competencies through two or more of the four modalities (speaking, listening, reading, writing). Language competencies include the following:

² See the TESOL International Association website at <http://www.tesol.org>.

³ The term ELPD recognizes that states may use the term English language proficiency (ELP) or English language development (ELD).

- Grammatical competence: the ability to use correct vocabulary and sentence structures
- Discourse competence: the ability to produce coherent and cohesive written or spoken discourse (e.g., paragraphs or conversations) that conforms to the norms of different genres (e.g., letter, essay, interview)
- Pragmatic competence: the ability to use language appropriately in communication based on the context and the relationship between the speaker and listener and the writer and reader
- Metalinguistic competence: knowledge of linguistic/grammatical concepts and functions, and the ability to use linguistic terminology to describe or discuss them

Scaffolding, or sheltering, techniques, including home language, should be used as you demonstrate the ability to provide targeted supports for language development and to make content accessible to English learners within a content-based unit of study, for example, in language arts, social studies, science.

You will then teach the learning segment, making a videorecording of your interactions with students during instruction. You will also assess, informally and formally, students' learning throughout the learning segment. Upon completion of the three tasks, you will submit artifacts from the tasks (e.g., lesson plans, clips from your videorecording, assessment materials, instructional materials, student work samples), as well as commentaries that you have written to explain and reflect on the Planning, Instruction, and Assessment components of the tasks. The artifacts and commentaries for each task will then be evaluated using rubrics especially developed for each task.

The edTPA Tasks and the Cycle of Effective Teaching

The three edTPA tasks represent a cycle of effective teaching (i.e., teaching that is focused on student learning). Planning Task 1 documents your intended teaching, Instruction Task 2 documents your enacted teaching, and Assessment Task 3 documents the impact of your teaching on student learning.

The three tasks and the evidence you provide for each are framed by your understandings of your students and their learning. As you develop, document, and teach your lessons, you will reflect upon the cyclical relationship among planning, instruction, and assessment with a focus on your students' learning needs.

Evidence of Teaching Practice: Artifacts and Commentaries

An essential part of edTPA is the evidence you will submit of how you planned, taught, and assessed your lessons to deepen student learning in English as an Additional Language. This evidence includes both artifacts and commentaries:

- Artifacts represent authentic work completed by you and your students. These include lesson plans, copies of instructional and assessment materials, video clips of your teaching, and student work samples.
- Commentaries are your opportunity to describe your artifacts, explain the rationale behind their choice, and analyze what you have learned about your teaching practice and your students' learning. Note that although your writing ability will not be scored directly, commentaries must be clearly written and well focused.

When preparing your artifacts and commentaries, refer to the rubrics frequently to guide your thinking, planning, and writing. Refer to the English as an Additional Language Evidence Chart for information about how your evidence should be formatted for electronic submission.

Evaluation Criteria

The rubrics used to score your performance are included in the handbook, following the sections describing the directions for each task. The descriptors in the five-level rubrics address a wide range of performance, beginning with the knowledge and skills of a novice not ready to teach (Level 1) and extending to the advanced practices of a highly accomplished beginner (Level 5).

Structure of the Handbook

The following pages provide specific instructions on how to complete each of the three tasks of the edTPA English as an Additional Language assessment. After an overview of the tasks, the handbook provides instructions for each task organized into four sections:

1. What Do I Need to Think About?

This section provides focus questions for you to think about when completing the task.

2. What Do I Need to Do?

This section provides specific, detailed directions for completing the task.

3. What Do I Need to Write?

This section tells you what you need to write and also provides specific and detailed directions for writing the commentary for the task.

4. How Will the Evidence of My Teaching Practice Be Assessed?

This section includes the rubrics that will be used to assess the evidence you provide for the task.

Additional requirements and resources are provided for you in this handbook:

- Professional Responsibilities: guidelines for the development of your evidence
- English as an Additional Language Context for Learning Information: prompts used to collect information about your school/classroom context
- English as an Additional Language Evidence Chart: specifications for electronic submission of evidence (artifacts and commentaries), including templates, supported file types, number of files, response length, and other important evidence specifications
- Glossary: definitions of key terms can be accessed by referring to the English as an Additional Language Glossary.

You should review the Making Good Choices document prior to beginning the planning of the learning segment. If you are in a preparation program, it will have additional resources that provide guidance as you develop your evidence.

Review all instructions carefully before beginning to teach the learning segment to ensure that you are well prepared for all tasks. Before you record your videos, pay particular attention to the specific content focus of each video clip submission; these foci are described in the What Do I Need to Do? sections in Instruction Task 2 and Assessment Task 3. Refer to the Professional Responsibilities section of this handbook for important information about permissions, confidentiality, and other requirements.

If your program requires you to submit artifacts and commentaries for official scoring, refer to www.edTPA.com for complete and current information before beginning your work and to download templates for submitting materials. The website contains information about the registration process, submission deadlines, submission requirements, withdrawal/refund policies, and score reporting. It also provides contact information should you have questions about your registration and participation in edTPA.

Whether submitting directly to www.edTPA.com or via your program's electronic portfolio management system, follow the submission guidelines as documented in the Evidence Chart and review edTPA Submission Requirements to ensure that your materials conform to the required evidence specifications and requirements for scoring.

Planning Task 1: Planning for Instruction and Assessment

What Do I Need to Think About?

In Planning Task 1, you will describe your plans for the learning segment and explain how your instruction is appropriate for the students and the content you are teaching. As you develop your plans, you need to think about the following:

- What do your students know, what can they do, and what are they learning to do?
- What do you want your students to learn? What are the important English language development goals and core content-area concepts you want students to develop within the learning segment?
- How will you use your knowledge of your students' assets to inform your plans?
- What instructional strategies, language tasks, and assessments will you design to support student learning and language use?
- How will your learning segment support students to develop and use language that deepens content understanding?
- How is the teaching you propose supported by research and theory about how students learn?

What Do I Need to Do?

- Select a class. If you teach more than one class, select one focus class for this assessment. The class must consist of at least 3 English learners. If your placement for English as an Additional Language has you responsible for a group rather than a whole class, plans should describe instruction for that group (minimum of 3 students).⁴
 - Note: California candidates—within your edTPA, you must include an English learner, a student with an identified disability, and a student from an underserved education group.⁵
- Provide context information. The English as an Additional Language Context for Learning Information form is provided later in this handbook and must be submitted in a template. This form provides essential information about your students and your school/classroom. The context information you submit should be no more than 4 pages, including the prompts.
- Identify a learning segment to plan, teach, and analyze. Review the curriculum with your cooperating teacher and select a learning segment of 3–5 consecutive lessons. (If teaching English as an Additional Language within a large time block, select a learning segment of about 3–8 hours of connected instruction.)

⁴ If your field placement involves fewer than 3 students, which means your “whole class” has fewer than 3 students, you must include a written rationale for this number of students within the Context for Learning Information form or the Planning Commentary.

- Identify a central focus. Identify the central focus along with the content (subject matter) and language objectives (key language function, task, or skill) you will address in the learning segment. The central focus should support students' English language development within content-based instruction.
- Identify and plan to support language demands. Select a key language function from your learning objectives. Choose a learning task that provides opportunities for students to practice using that language function. Identify additional language demands associated with that task. Plan targeted supports that address the identified language demands, including the language function.
- Write a lesson plan for each lesson in the learning segment. Your lesson plans should be detailed enough that a substitute or other teacher could understand them well enough to use them.
- Your lesson plans must include the following information, even if your teacher preparation program requires you to use a specific lesson plan format:
 - ELPD standard(s) (e.g., WIDA or state standards that address English Language Development/Proficiency)⁶ that are the target of student learning. (Note: Please list the number and text of each standard that is being addressed. If only a portion of a standard is being addressed, then only list the part or parts that are relevant.)
 - State-adopted student academic content standards that are the target of student learning. (Note: Please include the number and text of each standard that is being addressed. If only a portion of a standard is being addressed, then only list the part or parts that are relevant.)
 - Learning objectives associated with the ELPD and content standards
 - Formal and informal assessments used to monitor student learning, including type(s) of assessment and what is being assessed
 - Instructional strategies and language tasks (including what you and the students will be doing) that support diverse student needs
 - Instructional resources and materials used to engage students in learning
- Each lesson plan must be no more than 4 pages in length. You will need to condense or excerpt lesson plans longer than 4 pages. Any explanations or rationale for decisions should be included in your Planning Commentary and deleted from your plans.
- Respond to the commentary prompts listed in the Planning Commentary section prior to teaching the learning segment.
- Submit your original lesson plans. If you make changes while teaching the learning segment, you may offer reflection on those changes in the Instruction Task 2 and Assessment Task 3 Commentaries.

⁶ State standards that address English language development or proficiency may use this language, or related language in the title of their standards (e.g., English as a Second Language).

- Select and submit key instructional materials needed to understand what you and the students will be doing (no more than 5 additional pages per lesson plan). The instructional materials might include such items as class handouts, assignments, slides, and interactive whiteboard images.
- Submit copies of all written assessments and/or directions for any oral or performance assessments. (Submit only the blank assessments given to students; do not submit student work samples for this task.)
- Provide citations for the source of all materials that you did not create (e.g., published texts, websites, and material from other educators). List all citations by lesson number at the end of the Planning Commentary. Note: Citations do not count toward the commentary page limit.

See the Planning Task 1: Artifacts and Commentary Specifications in the English as an Additional Language Evidence Chart for instructions on electronic submission of evidence. This evidence chart identifies templates, supported file types, number of files, response length, and other important evidence specifications. Your evidence cannot contain hyperlinked content. Any web content you wish to include as part of your evidence must be submitted as a document file, which must conform to the file format and response length requirements.

What Do I Need to Write?

In Planning Task 1, you will write

- a description of your Context for Learning (see “What Do I Need to Do?” above for directions)
- lesson plans (see “What Do I Need to Do?” above for directions)
- a commentary explaining your plans (see “Planning Commentary” below for directions)

Planning Commentary

In Planning Task 1, you will write a commentary, responding to the prompts below. Your commentary should be no more than 9 single-spaced pages, including the prompts.

1. Central Focus

- a. Describe the central focus and purpose of the language and content (subject matter) you will teach in the learning segment.
- b. Given the central focus, describe how the ELPD standards, content standards, and learning objectives within your learning segment address students’ development of English language proficiency and content for each competency that applies:
 - Grammatical competence—the ability to use correct vocabulary and sentence structures

- Discourse competence—the ability to produce coherent and cohesive written or spoken discourse (e.g., paragraphs or conversations) that conforms to the norms of different genres (e.g., letter, essay, interview)
 - Pragmatic competence—the ability to use language appropriately in communication based on the context and the relationship between the speaker and writer and the listener and reader
 - Metalinguistic competence—knowledge of linguistic/grammatical concepts and functions, and the ability to use linguistic terminology to describe or discuss them
- c. Explain how your plans build on each other and make connections between language competencies (listed above) and content to support students' English language development in two or more of the four modalities (speaking, listening, reading, writing).

2. Knowledge of Students to Inform Teaching

For each of the prompts below (2a–b), describe what you know about your students with respect to the central focus of the learning segment.

Consider the variety of English learners in your class who may require different strategies/support (e.g., students with IEPs or 504 plans, Students with Limited or Interrupted Formal Education [SLIFE], readers who struggle in their first language, students at varying levels of language proficiency, long-term English learners, underperforming students or those with gaps in academic knowledge, and/or gifted students).

- a. Prior academic learning and prerequisite skills related to the central focus—Cite evidence of what students know, what they can do, and what they are still learning to do.
- b. Personal, cultural, and community assets related to the central focus—What do you know about your students' everyday experiences, cultural and language backgrounds and practices, and interests?

3. Supporting Students' English Language and Content Learning

Respond to prompts 3a–c below. To support your justifications, refer to the instructional materials and lesson plans you have included as part of Planning Task 1. In addition, use principles from research and/or theory relevant to English learner education to support your justifications.

1. In addition, use principles from research and/or theory relevant to English learner education to support your justifications.

- a. Justify how your understanding of your students' prior academic learning and personal, cultural, and community assets (from prompts 2a–b above) guided your choice or adaptation of language tasks and materials when planning to provide English language development within content-based instruction. Be explicit about the connections between the language tasks and students' prior academic learning, their assets, and research/theory.
- b. Justify how the demands of content guided your choice or adaptation of language tasks and materials when planning to provide English language development within content-based instruction.

- c. Describe and justify why your instructional strategies and planned supports are appropriate for the whole class, individuals, and/or groups of students with specific learning needs.

Consider the variety of English learners in your class who may require different strategies/support (e.g., students with IEPs or 504 plans, Students with Limited or Interrupted Formal Education [SLIFE], readers who struggle in their first language, students at varying levels of language proficiency, long-term English learners, underperforming students or those with gaps in academic knowledge, and/or gifted students).

4. Supporting English Language Development in the Content Areas

As you respond to prompts 4a–d, consider the range of students’ language assets and needs—what do students already know, what are they struggling with, and/or what is new to them?

- a. Language Function. Using information about your students’ language assets and needs, identify one language function essential for students to engage in the content-area learning within your central focus. Listed below are some sample language functions. You may choose one of these or another more appropriate for your learning segment.

Analyze	Argue	Categorize	Compare/contrast	Describe	Explain
Interpret	Persuade	Predict	Question	Retell	Summarize

- b. Identify a key language task from your plans that provides students with opportunities to practice using the language function identified above. Identify the lesson in which the learning task occurs. (Give lesson day/number.)
- c. Additional Language Demands. Given the language function and learning task identified above, describe the following language demands (written or oral) associated with the content area students need to understand and/or use:
- Vocabulary and/or key phrases
 - Plus one or more of the following:
 - Grammatical competence
 - Discourse competence
 - Pragmatic competence
 - Metalinguistic competence
- d. Language Supports. Refer to your lesson plans and instructional materials as needed in your response to the prompt.
- Identify and describe the planned instructional supports (during and/or prior to the learning task) to help students understand, develop, and use the identified language demands (vocabulary and/or key phrases, function, grammatical competence, discourse competence, pragmatic competence, or metalinguistic competence).

5. Monitoring Student Development of English Language and Content

In response to the prompts below, refer to the assessments you will submit as part of the materials for Planning Task 1.

- a. Describe how your planned formal and informal assessments will provide direct evidence of students' development of English language proficiency within content-based instruction throughout the learning segment.
- b. Explain how the design or adaptation of your planned assessments allows students with specific needs to demonstrate their development of English language proficiency within content-based instruction.

Consider the variety of English learners in your class who may require different strategies/support (e.g., students with IEPs or 504 plans, Students with Limited or Interrupted Formal Education [SLIFE], readers who struggle in their first language, students at varying levels of language proficiency, long-term English learners, underperforming students or those with gaps in academic knowledge, and/or gifted students).

How Will the Evidence of My Teaching Practice Be Assessed?

For Planning Task 1, your evidence will be assessed using rubrics 1–5, which appear on the following pages. When preparing your artifacts and commentaries, refer to the rubrics frequently to guide your thinking, planning, and writing.

Instruction Task 2: Instructing and Engaging Students in Learning

What Do I Need to Think About?

In Instruction Task 2, you will demonstrate how you support and engage students in learning. Before you begin your instruction, you need to think about the following:

- What kind of learning environment do you want to develop in order to establish respect and rapport, and to support students' engagement in learning?
- What kinds of language tasks actively engage students in the central focus of the learning segment?
- How will you elicit and build on student responses in ways that develop communicative proficiency in English as an Additional Language in meaningful academic context(s)?
- How do you use your students' full language repertoire (home language and English) as a bridge to support students' content learning?
- In what ways will you connect new content to your students' prior academic learning and linguistic, personal, cultural, or community assets during your instruction?
- How will you use evidence from your instruction to examine and change your teaching practices to more effectively meet a variety of student learning needs?

What Do I Need to Do?

- Obtain required permissions for videorecording. Before you record your video, ensure that you have the appropriate permission from the parents/guardians of your students and from adults who appear in the video. Adjust the camera angle to exclude individuals for whom you do not have permission to film.
- Examine your lesson plans for the learning segment and identify challenging learning tasks in which you and students are actively engaged. The video clips you select for submission should provide a sample of how you interact with students to develop their English language proficiency.
- Identify lessons to videorecord.
- Provide 2 video clips (each no more than 10 minutes in length, but not less than 3 minutes combined) that demonstrate how you interact with students in a positive learning environment to develop English language proficiency in meaningful academic context(s) with a focus on two or more modalities (speaking, listening, reading, writing) and one or more competencies (grammatical, discourse, pragmatic, or metalinguistic).
 - The first clip should focus on students engaging through modalities to develop ELPD through content (modality in content)—or supporting students in practicing language.

- The second clip should focus on academic language development in relation to one or more competencies and supporting students in making connections between the content and their backgrounds, experiences, and prior knowledge. Here, you as the teacher candidate should be preparing/modeling to prepare students to practice language and allowing and/or supporting students to practice language.
- The video clips can feature either the whole class or a targeted group of students (minimum of 3 students¹⁰) within the class, with a focus on student-student interactions. One clip may feature interactions between you and your students, with the other focusing on interactions among the students.
- The video clips may include interactions in English, home language, or bi/multilingual that are (1) between you and your students and (2) among the students, including your responses to student comments, questions, and needs.
- If languages other than English are used, translations are necessary only when highlighting key exchanges that reveal students' content understandings and/or language proficiency. Translations do not need to be a full transcript and can be provided within the commentary and noted with video clip time stamps.
- (Optional) Provide evidence of students' language use. You may provide evidence of language use with your video clips from Instruction Task 2, an additional video clip of one or more students using language within the learning segment (no more than 5 minutes in length), AND/OR through the student work samples analyzed in Assessment Task 3.
- Videorecord your classroom teaching. Tips for videorecording your class are available from your teacher preparation program.
- Select video clips to submit and verify that each clip meets the following requirements:
 - Ensure that you and your students can be seen in the video clips you submit. Also, ensure that your face appears at least once in the video for identification purposes.
 - Check the sound quality to ensure that you and your students can be heard on the video clips you submit. If most of the audio in a clip cannot be understood by a scorer, submit another clip. If there are occasional audio portions of a clip that cannot be understood that are relevant to your commentary responses, do one of the following: 1) provide a transcript with time stamps of the inaudible portion and refer to the transcript in your response; 2) embed quotes with time-stamp references in the commentary response; or 3) insert captions in the video (captions for this purpose will be considered permissible editing).
 - A video clip must be continuous and unedited, with no interruption in events.
 - If you have inadvertently included individuals for whom you do not have permission to film in the video clips you plan to submit, you may use software to blur the faces of these individuals. This is not considered editing. Other portions of the submitted video clips, including the classroom, your face, and the faces of individuals for whom you have obtained permission to film, should remain unblurred.
 - Do not include the name of the state, school, or district in your video. Use first names only for all individuals appearing in the video.
- Respond to the commentary prompts listed in the Instruction Commentary section below after viewing the video clips.

¹⁰ If your field placement includes 5 students or less, which leads your video clips to include fewer than 3 students, you must provide a clear rationale for this within the Instruction Commentary.

- Determine if additional information is needed to understand what you and the students are doing in the video clips. For example, if there are graphics, texts, or images that are not clearly visible in the video, or comments that are not clearly heard, you may insert digital copies or transcriptions at the end of the Instruction Commentary (no more than 2 pages in addition to the responses to commentary prompts).

See the Instruction Task 2: Artifacts and Commentary Specifications in the English as an Additional Language Evidence Chart for instructions on electronic submission of evidence. This evidence chart identifies templates, supported file types, number of files, response length, and other important evidence specifications. Your evidence cannot contain hyperlinked content. Any web content you wish to include as part of your evidence must be submitted as a document file, which must conform to the file format and response length requirements.

What Do I Need to Write?

Instruction Commentary

In Instruction Task 2, you will write a commentary, responding to the prompts below. Your commentary should be no more than 6 single-spaced pages, including the prompts. If needed, insert no more than 2 additional pages of supporting documentation for the videorecordings at the end of the commentary (e.g., translations of key interactions, digital copies of indiscernible materials, or transcriptions of inaudible comments). These additional pages do not count toward the commentary page limit noted above.

- Which lesson or lessons are shown in the video clips? Identify the lesson(s) by lesson plan number.

- Promoting a Positive Learning Environment

Refer to scenes in the video clips where you provided a positive learning environment.

- How did you demonstrate mutual respect for, rapport with, and responsiveness to students with varied needs and backgrounds, and challenge students to engage in learning?

- Engaging Students in Developing English Language Proficiency

Refer to examples from the video clips in your responses to the prompts.

- Explain how your instruction engaged students in developing English language proficiency within content-based instruction with a focus on two or more modalities (speaking, listening, reading, writing) and one or more competencies (grammatical, discourse, pragmatic, metalinguistic).

- Deepening Students' English Language Proficiency during Instruction

Refer to examples from the video clips in your explanations.

- Explain how you elicited and built on student responses to promote thinking and develop students' English language proficiency in relation to one or more language competencies and modalities, within content-based instruction.

- b. Explain how your instruction promotes comparisons and connections between the content being taught and the students' cultural and linguistic backgrounds, experiences, and prior academic knowledge.

5. Analyzing Teaching

Refer to examples from the video clips in your responses to the prompts.

- a. What changes would you make to your instruction—for the whole class and/or for students who need greater support or challenge—to better support student development of English language proficiency (e.g., missed opportunities)?

Consider the variety of English learners in your class who may require different strategies/support (e.g., students with IEPs or 504 plans, Students with Limited or Interrupted Formal Education [SLIFE], readers who struggle in their first language, students at varying levels of language proficiency, long-term English learners, underperforming students or those with gaps in academic knowledge, and/or gifted students).

- b. Why do you think these changes would improve student development of English language proficiency? Support your explanation with evidence of student learning AND principles from theory and/or research relevant to English learner education.

How Will the Evidence of My Teaching Practice Be Assessed?

For Instruction Task 2, your evidence will be assessed using rubrics 6–10, which appear on the following pages. When preparing your artifacts and commentaries, refer to the rubrics frequently to guide your thinking, instruction, and writing.

Candidate makes connections to research and/or theory relevant to English learner education.	Level 4 plus: Candidate justifies changes using principles from research and/or theory relevant to English learner education.

Assessment Task 3: Assessing Student Learning

What Do I Need to Think About?

In Assessment Task 3, you will analyze English learners' learning and their use of language. Before you begin the analysis, you need to think about the following:

- How will you gather evidence and make sense of what English learners have learned?
- How will you provide meaningful feedback to your English learners?
- How will you use evidence of what English learners know and are able to do to plan next steps in instruction?
- How will you identify evidence of and explain students' use of language that demonstrates the development of English language proficiency?

What Do I Need to Do?

- Select one assessment from your learning segment you will use to evaluate your students' developing knowledge and skills. It should be an assessment that is completed by the whole class featured in the learning segment. (If you are teaching only a group within the class for the learning segment, that group will be "the whole class.") The assessment should reflect the work of individuals, not groups, but may be individual work from a group task. The assessment should provide opportunities for students to demonstrate their path toward the acquisition of English language proficiency within content-based instruction.
- If some portions of the student work include students' home language, provide an explanation for how the home language bridges or demonstrates content learning as part of your analysis in the Assessment Commentary.
- Define and submit the evaluation criteria you will use to analyze student learning related to English language proficiency described above.
- Collect and analyze student work from the selected assessment to identify quantitative and qualitative patterns of learning within and across learners in the class. You may submit text files with scanned student work, a video or audio file of a student's oral work, OR a student-created video or multimedia file. For each focus student, a video or audio work sample must be no more than 5 minutes in total running time.
- Select 3 student work samples that represent the patterns of learning (i.e., what individuals or groups generally understood and what a number of students were still struggling to understand) you identified in your assessment analysis. These students will be your focus students for this task. At least one of the focus students must have an identified learning need (for example, an English learner, a student with an IEP [Individualized Education Program] or 504 plan, a struggling reader, an underperforming student or a student with gaps in academic knowledge, and/or a gifted student needing greater support or challenge).

- Document the feedback you gave to each of the 3 focus students on the work sample itself, as an audio clip, or as a video clip. You must submit evidence of the actual feedback provided to each focus student, and not a description of the feedback.
- If you submit a student work sample or feedback as a video or audio clip and comments made by you or your focus student(s) cannot be clearly heard, do one of the following: 1) attach a transcription of the inaudible comments (no more than 2 additional pages) to the end of the Assessment Commentary; 2) embed quotes with time-stamp references in the commentary response; or 3) insert captions in the video (captions for this purpose will be considered permissible editing).
- If you submit a student work sample or feedback as a video or audio clip and additional students are present, clearly identify which students are your focus students in the relevant prompts (1d and 2a) of the Assessment Commentary (in no more than 2 sentences).
- Respond to the prompts listed in the Assessment Commentary section below after analyzing student work from the selected assessment.
- Include and submit the chosen assessment, including the directions/prompts provided to students. Attach the assessment (no more than 5 additional pages) to the end of the Assessment Commentary.
- Provide evidence of students' understanding and use of the targeted academic language function and other language demands. You may choose evidence from the video clips submitted in Instruction Task 2, an additional video clip of one or more students using language within the learning segment (no more than 5 minutes in length), AND/OR student work samples submitted in Assessment Task 3.

See the Assessment Task 3: Artifacts and Commentary Specifications in the English as an Additional Language Evidence Chart for instructions on the electronic submission of evidence. This evidence chart identifies templates, supported file types, number of files, response length, and other important evidence specifications. Your evidence cannot contain hyperlinked content. Any web content you wish to include as part of your evidence must be submitted as a document file, which must conform to the file format and response length requirements.

What Do I Need to Write?

Assessment Commentary

In Assessment Task 3, you will write a commentary responding to the prompts below. Your commentary should be no more than 10 single-spaced pages, including the prompts. If student work includes students' home language, include translations of the segments needed for your analysis of student learning within your commentary prompt responses. Attach the assessment used to evaluate student performance (no more than 5 additional pages) and, if necessary, a transcription of inaudible portions of a video or audio clip of feedback or a student work sample (no more than 2 additional pages) to the end of the Assessment Commentary. These additional pages do not count toward the commentary page limit noted above.

1. Analyzing Students' Development of English Language Proficiency through Content-Based Instruction

- a. Identify the specific learning objectives measured by the assessment you chose for analysis.
- b. Provide a graphic (table or chart) or narrative that summarizes student learning for your whole class. Be sure to summarize student learning for all evaluation criteria submitted in Assessment Task 3, Part D.
- c. Use evidence found in the 3 student work samples and the whole class summary to analyze the patterns of learning for the whole class and differences for groups or individual learners relative to their development of English language proficiency within content-based instruction. Provide translations of home language used in the work samples as needed to support your analysis.

Consider what students understand and do well, and where they continue to struggle as they acquire English language proficiency and content simultaneously (e.g., common errors, confusions, need for greater challenge).

- d. If a video or audio work sample occurs in a group context (e.g., discussion), provide the name of the clip and clearly describe how the scorer can identify the focus student(s) (e.g., position, physical description) whose work is portrayed.

2. Feedback to Guide Further Learning

Refer to specific evidence of submitted feedback to support your explanations.

- a. Identify the format in which you submitted your evidence of feedback for the 3 focus students. Choose one of the following:
 - Written directly on work samples or in separate documents that were provided to the focus students
 - In audio files
 - In video clips from Instruction Task 2 (provide a time-stamp reference) or in separate video clips

If a video or audio clip of feedback occurs in a group context (e.g., discussion), clearly describe how the scorer can identify the focus student (e.g., position, physical description) who is being given feedback.

- b. Explain how feedback provided to the 3 focus students addresses their individual strengths and needs relative to their development of English language proficiency within content-based instruction.
- c. Describe how you will support each focus student to understand and use this feedback to further their learning related to their development of English language proficiency within content-based instruction.

3. Evidence of Language Understanding and Use

When responding to the prompt below, use concrete examples from the video clips and/or student work samples as evidence. Evidence from the clips may focus on one or more students.

You may provide evidence of students' language use from ONE, TWO, OR ALL THREE of the following sources:

1. Use video clips from Instruction Task 2 and provide time-stamp references for evidence of language use.
2. Submit an additional video file named "Language Use" of no more than 5 minutes in length and cite language use (this can be footage of one or more students' language use). Submit the clip in Assessment Task 3, Part B.
3. Use the student work samples analyzed in Assessment Task 3 and cite language use.

- a. Explain and provide concrete examples for the extent to which your students were able to use or struggled to use the
 - selected language function,
 - vocabulary and/or key phrases, AND
 - grammatical, discourse, pragmatic, or metalinguistic competence to develop content understandings.

4. Using Assessment to Inform Instruction

- a. Based on your analysis of student learning presented in prompts 1b–c, describe next steps for instruction to impact student learning:
 - For the whole class
 - For the 3 focus students and other individuals/groups with specific needs

Consider the variety of English learners in your class who may require different strategies/support (e.g., students with IEPs or 504 plans, Students with Limited or Interrupted Formal Education [SLIFE], readers who struggle in their first language, students at varying levels of language proficiency, long-term English learners, underperforming students or those with gaps in academic knowledge, and/or gifted students).

- b. Explain how these next steps follow from your analysis of student learning. Support your explanation with principles from theory and/or research relevant to English learner education.

How Will the Evidence of My Teaching Practice Be Assessed?

For Assessment Task 3, your evidence will be assessed using rubrics 11–15, which appear on the following pages. When preparing your artifacts and commentaries, refer to the rubrics frequently to guide your thinking, planning, instruction, assessment, and writing.

5. Complete the charts below to summarize required or needed supports, accommodations, or modifications for your students that will affect your instruction in this learning segment. As needed, consult with your cooperating teacher to complete the charts. Some rows have been completed in italics as examples. Use as many rows as you need.

Consider the variety of English learners in your class who may require different strategies/supports or accommodations/modifications to instruction or assessment. For example, students

- With Individualized Education Programs (IEPs) or 504 plans
- With Limited or Interrupted Formal Education (SLIFE)
- Who are long-term English learners
- Needing greater challenge or support
- Who are at varying levels of language proficiency
- Who struggle in their first language
- Who are underperforming or have gaps in academic knowledge

For Assessment Task 3, you will choose work samples from 3 focus students. At least one of the focus students must have an identified learning need (for example, an English learner, a student with an IEP [Individualized Education Program] or 504 plan, a struggling reader, an underperforming student or a student with gaps in academic knowledge, and/or a gifted student needing greater support or challenge). Note: California candidates—within your edTPA, you must include an English learner, a student with an identified disability, and a student from an underserved education group.¹³

¹³ California candidates—If you do not have any English learners, select a student who is challenged by academic English. If you do not have a student with an identified disability or a student who is from an underserved education group, select a student receiving tiered support within the classroom or a student who often struggles with the content.

English as an Additional Language Evidence Chart

Your evidence must be submitted to the electronic portfolio management system used by your teacher preparation program. Your submission must conform to the artifact and commentary specifications for each task. This section provides instructions for all evidence types as well as a description of supported file types for evidence submission, number of files, response lengths, and other information regarding format specifications. Note that your evidence cannot contain hyperlinked content. Any web content you wish to include as part of your evidence must be submitted as a document file, which must conform to the file format and response length requirements.

English as an Additional Language (EAL) permits some use of languages other than English in the video clips or work samples. Translations may be necessary in order to highlight key interactions in the video clip(s) that reveal students' content understanding and/or language proficiency. These translations, noted with time stamps, can be provided at the end of the applicable commentary, in up to 2 additional pages that do not count toward the commentary page limit. If some portions of the student work sample include student's home language, provide an explanation for how the home language bridges or demonstrates content learning as part of your analysis in the Assessment Commentary.

English as an Additional Language

Glossary

Source citations for glossary entries are provided as footnotes in this section.

academic language: Oral and written language used for academic purposes. Academic language is the means by which students develop and express content-specific understandings. Academic language represents the language of the discipline that students need to learn and use to participate and engage in the content area or discipline in meaningful ways.

artifacts: Authentic work completed by you and your students including lesson plans, copies of instructional and assessment materials, video clips of your teaching, and student work samples. Artifacts are submitted as part of your evidence.

assessment (formal and informal): “[R]efer[s] to all those activities undertaken by teachers and by their students . . . that provide information to be used as feedback to modify teaching and learning activities.”¹⁷ Assessments provide evidence of students’ prior knowledge, thinking, or learning in order to evaluate what students understand and how they are thinking. Informal assessments may include such things as student questions and responses during instruction and teacher observations of students as they work or perform. In English as an Additional Language education, formal assessment of communicative proficiency includes evaluation of students’ work in terms of performance and use of the target language in meaningful cultural context(s). Some examples of performance assessments include project outcomes, posters, any written work (e.g., letters, online posts), videos or oral recordings of student presentations, peer feedback forms, checklists, and rubrics.

assets (knowledge of students):

- personal: Refers to specific background information that students bring to the learning environment. Students may bring interests, knowledge, everyday experiences, family backgrounds, and so on, which a teacher can draw upon to support learning.
- cultural: Refers to the cultural backgrounds and practices that students bring to the learning environment, such as traditions, languages and dialects, worldviews, literature, art, and so on, that a teacher can draw upon to support learning.
- community: Refers to common backgrounds and experiences that students bring from the community where they live, such as resources, local landmarks, community events, practices, and so on, that a teacher can draw upon to support learning.

central focus: A description of the important understandings and core concepts that you want students to develop within the learning segment. The central focus should go beyond a list of facts and skills, align with content standards and learning objectives, and address the subject-specific components in the learning segment. The central focus of English as an Additional Language teaching is developing student communicative proficiency in English in meaningful cultural context(s). For example, the central focus for an English as an Additional Language learning segment might be talking about family and self by using adjectives, pronouns, and vocabulary that relate to kinship, and verbs such as “to be” and “to have” in the target language. The whole segment can focus on the development of students’ communicative proficiency in English, developing their skills to be able to introduce and talk about self and family through the creation of family albums, biographical writing pieces, and posters/drawings of family trees with labels.

commentary: Submitted as part of each task and, along with artifacts, make up your evidence. The commentaries should be written to explain the rationale behind your teaching decisions and to analyze and reflect on what you have learned about your teaching practice and your students’ learning.

communication: According to the ACTFL standards,¹⁸ the current organizing principle for English as an Additional Language teaching and learning practices is communication, which highlights not only the what (vocabulary) and how (grammar) of the target language, but also the why and the when to say what to whom when using the target language. Communication is composed of three modes: interpretive (e.g., reading a news article in the target language, listening to a podcast in the target language), interpersonal (e.g., ordering food in the target language, interviewing a classmate in the target language), and presentational (e.g., introducing self, family, friends to the class in the target language, making a formal presentation about a cultural practice and perspective in the target language/culture). Grammar and vocabulary are still essential tools for communication; however, it is the actual use of grammar and vocabulary to communicate in meaningful and culturally appropriate ways with users of other languages that is the main goal of English as an Additional Language education in the 21st century.

content-based instruction: Content instruction (e.g., mathematics, English language arts, science, social studies) that is relevant and based on the English learner’s grade-level standards.

content objective: Objectives that define desired content outcomes for the lesson.

engaging students in learning: Using instructional and motivational strategies that promote students’ active involvement in language tasks that increase their knowledge, skills, and abilities related to specific learning objectives. Engagement in learning contrasts with student participation in language tasks that are not well designed and/or implemented and do not increase student learning.

evaluation criteria: Performance indicators or dimensions that are used to assess evidence of student learning. They indicate the qualities by which levels of performance can be differentiated and that anchor judgments about the learner’s degree of success on an assessment. Evaluation criteria can be represented in various ways, such as a rubric, a point system for different levels of performance, or rules for awarding full versus partial credit. Evaluation criteria may examine correctness/accuracy, cognitive complexity, sophistication or elaboration of responses, or quality of explanations.

¹⁸ The American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages. (1999). Standards for foreign language learning in the 21st century. Lawrence, KS: Allen Press.

evidence: Consists of artifacts that document how you planned and implemented instruction AND commentaries that explain your plans and what is seen in the videorecording(s) or examine what you learned about your teaching practice and your students' learning. Evidence should demonstrate your ability to design lesson plans with instructional supports that deepen student learning, use knowledge of your students to inform instruction, foster a positive learning environment that promotes student learning, monitor and assess student progress toward learning objectives, and analyze your teaching effectiveness. Your evidence must be submitted electronically using the electronic portfolio management system used by your teacher preparation program.

input: The classroom materials and texts (oral or written) through which learners gain access to English. Emphasis is given to authentic input found in the “real world,” that is, not produced strictly for pedagogical reasons, as well as to materials generated by students in interaction and collaboration in the target language. Examples of authentic input include musical videos, movies and other short films/video clips, songs, newspaper articles, literature, and any work created by students for genuine communicative purposes, such as dialogues, posters, writings, journals, poems, literary work, and so on.

language competencies:

- grammatical competence: The ability to use correct vocabulary and sentence structures. Example: Correctly conjugate verbs for regular and irregular past tense (e.g., “diluted,” “broke”).
- discourse competence: The ability to produce coherent and cohesive written or spoken discourse (e.g., paragraphs or conversations) that conforms to the norms of different genres (e.g., letter, essay, interview). Example: Use of language that is appropriate for a given audience when giving a class presentation in mathematics.
- pragmatic competence: The ability to use language appropriately in communication based on the context and the relationship between the speaker and writer and the listener and reader. Example: Discerning an author’s intent in a written text in social studies.
- metalinguistic competence: Knowledge of linguistic/grammatical concepts and functions, and the ability to use linguistic terminology to describe or discuss them. Example: Describing the literal and implied meaning in a fictional text in English language arts.

language functions: The function is the purpose the language is intended to achieve within school and in real-world contexts, both orally and in writing. Functions consist of what speakers do and accomplish by using language in meaningful contexts. Common interpersonal language functions include greeting, expressing likes and dislikes, making requests, giving and receiving information, initiating and ending conversations, and so on. Common academic language functions include defining, classifying, comparing/contrasting, explaining, arguing, interpreting, and evaluating ideas. To help you find the functions in your learning segment, remember that functions are associated with verbs (i.e., actions) found in your learning outcome statements.

language objectives: Objectives that define desired language outcomes for the lesson (e.g., vocabulary, language functions, language skills, grammar, or language structures).

language supports: The scaffolds, representations, and pedagogical strategies teachers provide to help learners understand, use, and practice the concepts and language they need to learn within disciplines (Santos, Darling-Hammond, Cheuk, 2012).¹⁹ The language supports planned within the lessons in edTPA should directly support learners to understand and use identified language demands (vocabulary/key phrases, function, or grammatical, discourse, pragmatic, or metalinguistic competence) to deepen content understandings.

language task: Includes activities, discussions, or other modes of participation that engage students to develop, practice, and apply skills and knowledge related to a specific learning goal. Language tasks may be scaffolded to connect prior knowledge to new knowledge and often include formative assessment. In English as an Additional Language education, tasks are designed and organized primarily around language functions and not forms. Context is central to the creation of tasks and the goal is to convey meaning rather than manipulate forms in isolation. Language tasks in English as an Additional Language include some form of input (e.g., a text, a film, a dialogue, a song, a picture), communicative purpose, context, roles (i.e., the parts teacher and students play), and activity (i.e., what the learners do with the input to accomplish the task). In addition, language tasks in English as an Additional Language are usually cooperative.

learning environment: The designed physical and emotional context, established and maintained throughout the learning segment to support a positive and productive learning experience for students.

learning objectives: Student learning outcomes to be achieved by the end of the lesson or learning segment.

learning segment: A set of 3–5 lessons that build one upon another toward a central focus, with a clearly defined beginning and end.

long-term English learners: English learners who have been classified as English learners without becoming fluent in English for a significant period of time that is defined by the school district and/or state.

patterns of learning: Includes both quantitative and qualitative patterns (or consistencies) for different groups of students or individuals. Quantitative patterns indicate in a numerical way the information understood from the assessment (e.g., 10 out of 15 students or 20% of the students). Qualitative patterns include descriptions of understandings, misunderstandings, and/or partial understandings that could explain the quantitative patterns (e.g., “given that most students were able to . . . it seems that they understand”).

planned supports: Instructional strategies, learning tasks and materials, and other resources deliberately designed to facilitate student learning of the central focus.

prior academic learning and prerequisite skills: Includes students’ academic content knowledge and skills, first and second language development, and level of second language proficiency, as well as academic experiences developed prior to the learning segment.

rapport: A close and harmonious relationship in which the people or groups understand each other’s feelings or ideas and communicate well with each other.

¹⁹ Santos, M., Darling-Hammond, L., & Cheuk, T. (2012). Teacher development to support English language learners in the context of common core state standards. Stanford University Understanding Language.

respect: A positive feeling of esteem or deference for a person and specific actions and conduct representative of that esteem. Respect can be a specific feeling of regard for the actual qualities of the one respected. It can also be conduct in accord with a specific ethic of respect. Rude conduct is usually considered to indicate a lack of respect, disrespect, whereas actions that honor somebody or something indicate respect. Note that respectful actions and conduct are culturally defined and may be context dependent.

rubrics: Subject-specific evaluation criteria used to score your performance on edTPA. These rubrics are included in the handbook, following the directions for each task. The descriptors in the five-level rubrics address a wide range of performance, beginning with the knowledge and skills of a novice not ready to teach (Level 1) and extending to the advanced practices of a highly accomplished beginner (Level 5).

scaffolding: The linguistic support given to English learners that is tailored to meet the needs of English learners at their level of ELPD; these scaffolds, which may include students' use of their home language, are gradually removed as the students become more fluent in English.

sheltering: Providing meaningful instruction to English learners in the content areas; English learner strategies are used so that English learners can access challenging content while learning English.

Students with Limited or Interrupted Formal Education (SLIFE): English learners who have missed a significant amount of schooling due to reasons such as natural disaster, war, poverty, and so on. As a result, SLIFE students experience gaps in their education and are not on grade level in their first language.

variety of English learners: Students in your class who may require different strategies or support. These students include but are not limited to students with IEPs or 504 plans, Students with Limited or Interrupted Formal Education (SLIFE), readers who struggle in their first language, students at varying levels of language proficiency, long-term English learners, underperforming students or those with gaps in academic knowledge, and/or gifted students.
